My dear Professor Watson:

Thank you
for your prompt reply concerning the two Ranunculi. I had named the Mancos Ranunculus
R. glaberrimus? and had sent it to a friend who thought it R. Lemmonii.
I shall inclose a specimen of R.
Macaulayi in flower and some of the seeds (which fall off when dry) that I obtained four years ago on Mt.
Kendall of the San Juan mts.
It differs somewhat from the Elk mts. specimen. I thought it the type as I found it in the range of mountains to which it was credited. I was very glad that my specimens were acceptable
to the Herbarium.

Sincerely,

Alice Eastwood.
